

My research

By Nate

The great wall of China is 1,500 miles long.

Map of China

Mongolia

China

South

East Ch

Nepal

zstan

Table of contents

Map of China 3

Introduction 4

Food 5

Art and music 6

Games 7

Religion 8

Landforms and water 9

Location language and flag 10

Holidays 11

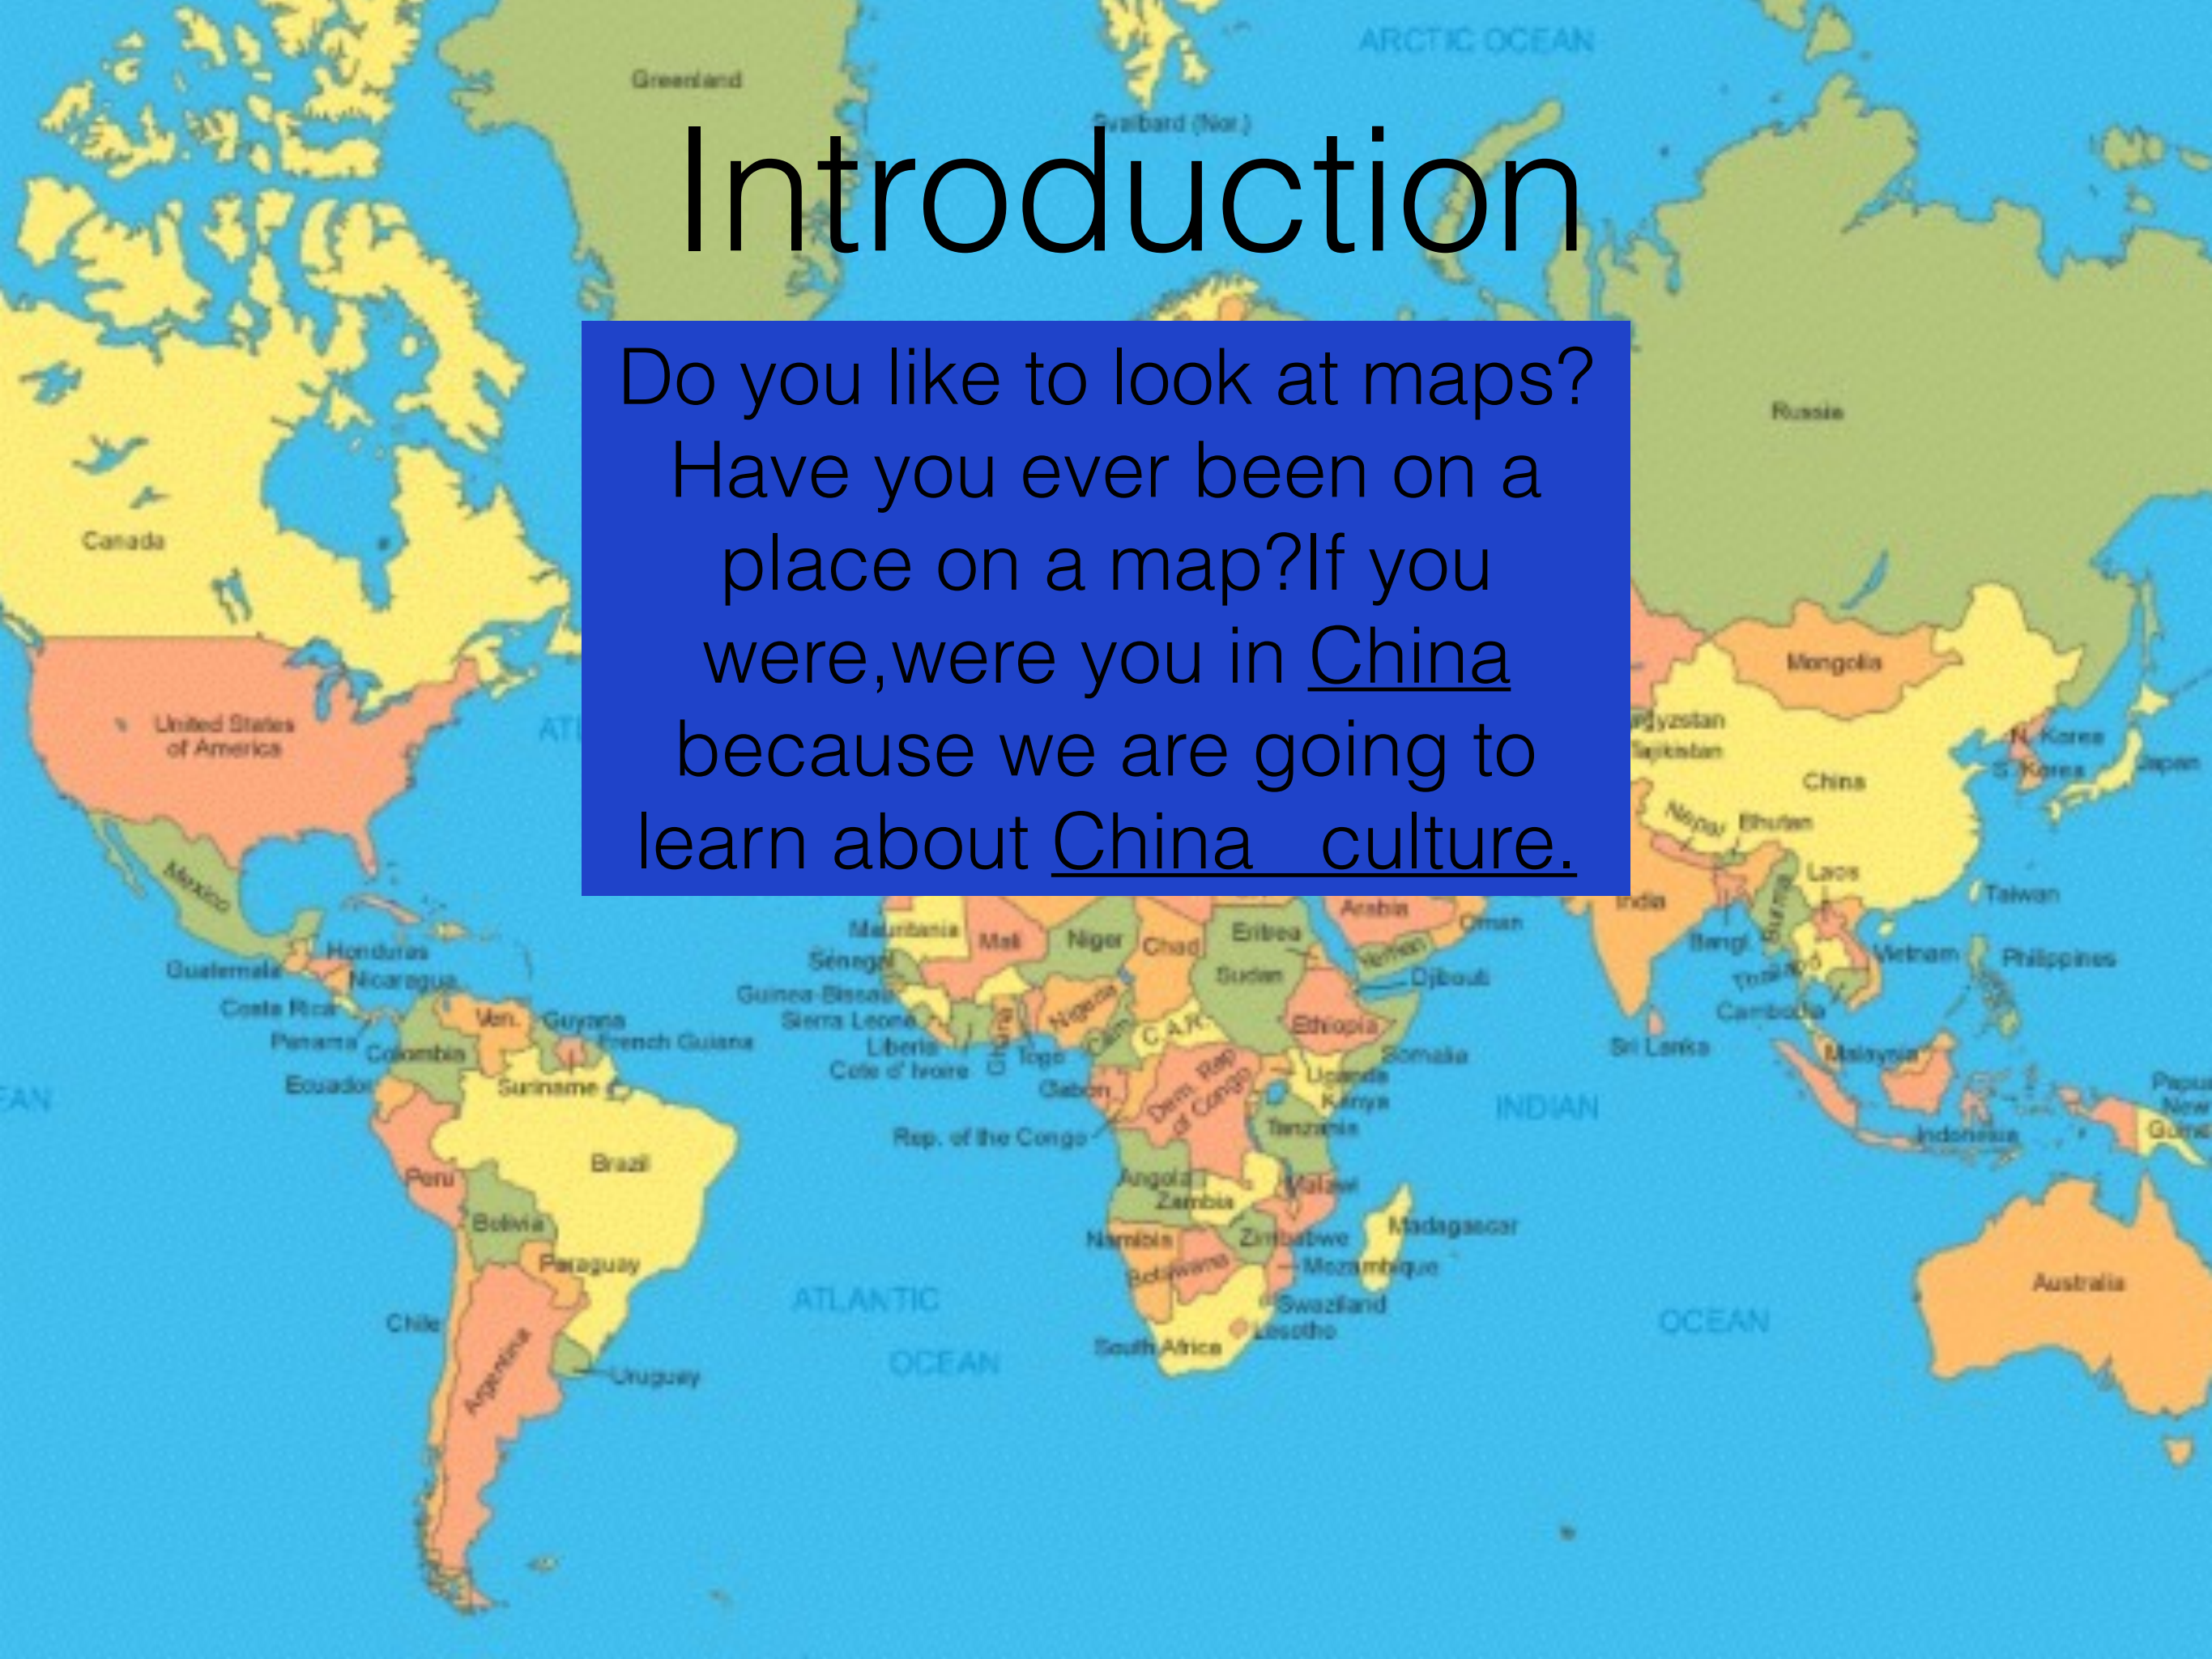

School in China 12

Conclusion 13

Introduction

Do you like to look at maps?
Have you ever been on a place on a map? If you were, were you in China
because we are going to learn about China culture.

Food

China has many different types of food. They have eggs and milk just like we have for breakfast. They also cook eggs the same way. Deviled, sunny side up, hard-boiled, scrambled. They have noodles for long life and is a easy grain to grow. They have white rice because it is a easy grain to grow and it also means little luck. As you can see, there are many different types of food in China.

Art and music

Chinese people create different kinds of music and art. They draw pictures of nature. For example, hills, lakes, and landscape. For music they have wind instruments such as flutes, clarinet, whistle.

Games

China people play many traditional games. They play soccer, baseball and karate. Karate is a fun martial art. Baseball is a fun Sport to. They play the same way. They play soccer to. They play the same way.

Religion

China people worship in many different ways. There is no religion in China because the government doesn't allow it. But some people still do it and the main one is Buddhism. Buddhism is a religion but nobody can tell other people. But they still do it and nobody ever finds out. Christianity is pretty much the same thing as Christian. They have some of their holidays. They also have freedom. As you can see, China has many different types of religion.

Landforms and water

China has many different types of landforms and bodies of water. There are deserts, rivers and lakes.

Location language and flag

China has a language location and flag. China's most popular language is Mandarin Chinese. The flag is the background of this page. It is also located on Asia.

Holidays

China celebrates many different types of holidays like Chinese New Year in China a holiday called Chinese New Year they have good luck and good foods and they were the color red because once there was a dragon in China and the dragon did not like the color red so that is why people were the color red and they have fireworks they have them to get rid of the bad luck.

School in China

China schools are different than ours. They have to wear uniforms and have to go to school for 8-10 hours.

Conclusion

If you were interested there is more books from other people in my room and you can study your own culture.

Glossary